NEW CLASS: NOVICE EARTHDOG, Effective February 1, 2022

Chapter 3. Section 3. Novice Earthdog Class and Title (NE).

The Novice Earthdog class is open to all eligible breeds of dogs who have not previously earned an Earthdog title. In order to be recorded as a Novice Earthdog, a dog must be individually registered with the AKC, and must have a record of having qualified in the Novice Earthdog tests in two (2) AKC licensed or member club tests under two different judges. Upon completion of these requirements, an AKC Novice Earthdog (NE) certificate will be issued to the owner, and the dog shall be identified as a Novice Earthdog in all official AKC records by the suffix title NE. The NE title is not a prerequisite to enter the Junior Earthdog test. A dog that has been recorded as a Novice Earthdog may continue to enter the Novice Earthdog test, but no further Novice Earthdog certificates will be issued.

Chapter 4. Section 1. Test Area Conditions and Dimensions.

The test area for the Introduction to Quarry test and Novice test shall be no less than 40 feet by 40 feet, with no portion of the den including the point of release, less than 10 feet from the side of the test area.

Chapter 4. Section 7. Novice Earthdog Test - Description.

Novice Earthdog is an instinct test requiring little to no previous exposure to earthwork. Young dogs, dogs with little working experience, and novice handlers are encouraged to enter. As it may be the first den experience for some dogs, the Judge and the handler shall do their utmost to assure that it is a positive experience for the dog. The Judge shall not be allowed to encourage the dog. The dog shall be brought to the test area entrance on a solid 4 to 6-foot lead. The handler may carry the dog to the release point or may walk the dog on lead to the release point, but the dog may not pass the release point prior to the start of the test. The handler may encourage the dog up to this point. The Judge must make sure that each handler understands the test requirements before starting the dog.

Chapter 4. Section 8. Novice Earthdog Test – Den Design.

The Novice Earthdog class den design is exactly the same as used in the Introduction to Quarry class. The den shall be standard liners approximately 9 inches by 9 inches, set so as to provide a tunnel approximately 10 feet in length, with one 90-degree turn. The handler shall release the dog from a point directly in front of the den, approximately 10 feet from the entrance. The Judge and Steward shall attempt to provide as little distraction as possible.

Chapter 4. Section 9. Novice Earthdog Test – Qualifying Performance.

The Judge or the Judge's Steward shall time the test. The time shall start when the dog is released.

The dog shall be allowed 2 minutes from the time it is released to begin working the quarry.

The dog may exit and re-enter the earth during the time allowed, provided it has not started working the quarry. (Note: In all tests the quarry is in a protective cage, which cannot come into contact with the dog outside the den.) The dog shall not qualify if it requires over 2 minutes to begin working the quarry.

Once the dog begins working the quarry, the Judge or Judge's Steward shall begin timing the working time and shall continue timing until the dog quits or the time limit is reached.

Once the dog begins working it must work continuously for 30 seconds, with no encouragement, to qualify. Work is defined as digging, barking, growling, lunging, biting at the quarry, or any other action that, in the opinion of the Judge, indicates the dog's willingness to engage the quarry. Any definite break in the dog's work shall stop the time, but a change from one form of work to another shall not stop the time as long as the dog continues working in a natural manner. Dogs that begin working the quarry within 2 minutes and continuously works the quarry for 30 seconds shall pass.

The Judge shall mark the judging form with the time, indicating whether the dog passed or failed and may make written comments as provided on the form. The completed judging form may be held by either the Judge's Steward or the Test Steward and collected only by the Test Secretary or Test Chairman. At the completion of each dog's test, the Judge shall inform the handler whether or not the dog passed. Following the class, the Judge shall announce the names of those dogs which have passed.
